The Japan International Dispute Resolution Center (Osaka) will move from the Osaka Nakanoshima National Government Building to the Osaka International Convention Center (Grand Cube Osaka) on April 1, 2021 thanks to great cooperation from Osaka Prefectural Government. Osaka will host the 2025 World Exposition and aim to become an international financial and commercial hub. The global expansion of Japanese companies from western Japan (Kansai), of which Osaka is a key component, is truly remarkable, but simultaneously it involves the potential risks of being embroiled in international disputes. The value of JIDRC-Osaka as a center for resolving international disputes in Osaka, will continue to contribute significantly to Japanese companies when negotiating with foreign companies to agree to settle international disputes in Osaka. In this light, we invite everyone from around the world to see that Osaka is an attractive international arbitration site, at this memorable time of the opening of a new facility in Osaka, with the theme of "International Arbitration in Osaka."
